Ross Election In New York Elates GOP

Wins Congress Race;
Kennon Unseats Long
Forces In Louisiana

(By The Associated Press)
Republican leaders today hailed the election of Robert Tripp Ross as congressman in New York's Queens County as "the handwriting on the wall for the Truman Administration."

This New York City district has chosen Democrats in three out of five elections in its eight-year history.

The district, though heavily Democratic, has never gone Democratic for president, governor or United States senator. The Democrats it has elected to Congress always have been given smaller margins than Democrats elected to local office.

Ross, conducting his fourth campaign for the seat, ran on a strictly anti-Truman platform which he expounded to voters by direct mail, telephone and door-to-door calls. He had served in Congress from 1946 to 1948.

The Democratic candidate refused to identify himself with the national administration. Ross charged this showed his opponent was afraid to run on a pro-Truman platform.

Dems' Margin Cut to 28

Loss of this first congressional race in a presidential election year cut the Democrats' margin in the House to 28 seats. The special election was held to fill the seat vacated by Democrat T. Vincent Quinn, who resigned to become Queens district attorney.

Ross, only entry in the four-way race to take a distinct stand on the Truman issue, polled 17,300 votes to 11,442 for his Democratic opponent, city councilman Hugh Quinn. Liberal party candidate George F. Cranmore, got 2,646 votes and the American Labor party-Independent candidate, Mrs. Thelma Bearman, 1,221.

This was the lightest vote ever polled in the district—32,609 votes of the 106,528 eligible voters.

In Louisiana, the forces of Gov. Earl Long were unseated by Robert Kennon an appellate judge, who overwhelmed Long's hand-picked candidate for governor, Carlos Spahia, in a Democratic primary runoff. Long was ineligible to succeed himself.

The victory means actual election in solidly Democratic Louisiana.

Early County Fair Given Consideration

Should the Columbiana County Fair be held in mid-August?

That's the question being considered by fair board members who met Monday night at the Court House to receive applications of exhibitors at the 1952 exposition to be held Sept. 9-13 at the Lisbon fairgrounds.

Galen Greenisen, fair board chairman, explained that several requests had been made that the fair dates be advanced into August. That, however, can not be done this year since the state already has approved the Sept. 9-13 dates.

Proponents of an early fair believe the weather would be more favorable in August, that more school children would attend, and that it would put the Columbiana exposition ahead of many other Ohio fairs.

P. R. Corey of Columbiana is vice chairman of the fair board. Clarence Crosser of Lisbon is secretary, and Richard Stamp of Salem, treasurer.

57 RESCUED FROM TWO SHATTERED TANKERS.—Split in half during a raging gale off Cape Cod near Chatham, Mass., the tankers Fort Mercer (top) and Pendleton (bottom) drift aimlessly in the heavy sea while coast guardmen continue their rescue operations after saving 33 from the stern section of the Fort Mercer and others from the Pendleton, bringing the total survivors to 57. Seven are known dead and nine unaccounted for. The two 10,000-ton tankers snapped in half some 25 miles apart when a fierce nor'easter caught them off the coast.

Inspection . Issue Bogs Truce Talks

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—Comunist insistence that Russia be invited as a neutral nation to help supervise a Korean truce stalled armistice talks today.

The Allies offered "in the interest of progress" to pare their troop rotation figure from 40,000 monthly to 35,000. But the Reds would not even talk about it.

No specific progress was reported from another truce meeting on prisoners of war. And no date was set for a third committee of staff officers to work out technicalities on the final truce clause—recommendations to governments.

Red negotiators were insistent that the Soviet Union be the third neutral nation nominated by the Communists. The United Nations command already has approved Poland and Czechoslovakia.

U. N. negotiators refused to indulge in a debate on the neutrality of Russia in the Korean conflict despite repeated Red hints they would like such an argument.

The Allies said simply that Russia, as sponsor of Red Korea and Communist China, was "not acceptable" as a neutral supervisor.

U. S. Sabre jet pilots today shot down two Communist MIG-15 jets and damaged five in two furious fights over northwestern Korea.

A bone-chilling wind swept the 155-mile ground front. No major action was reported.

In Tokyo Wednesday the Navy said Communist supply lines are being shattered on the sea as well as on land. Naval headquarters said 31 Red vessels trying to run the Allied blockade were destroyed between Feb. 11 and 17.

Since the war began, U. S. naval forces have destroyed 1,263 Communist small craft and damaged 2,551.

Monoxide Gas Kills Driver

Frank Lower, N. Lima Found Dead In Auto

Frank E. Lower, 38, of North Lima, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Lower of RD 4, Salem, was found dead in his car on Riley Rd., near North Lima, yesterday afternoon, a victim of monoxide gas poisoning. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Youngstown South Side Hospital.

Mahoning County Coroner David A. Belinky gave a verdict of suicide. An inner tube was connected to the exhaust pipe of Lower's car and stuffed into the trunk.

Born March 11, 1913 in East Fairfield, he was married to the former Juliet Mays in 1934. He was employed as a shovel operator for the Davis Mining Co.

Mr. Lower was a member of the Moose Lodge of Youngstown. He is survived by his wife and a daughter, Treasure Ann, and a son, Frank Jr., of the home; his parents; five sisters, Mrs. Mary Moore of Royal Oaks, Mich., Mrs. Grace Hahn of Jeanette, Pa., Mrs. Doris Hodge of Cuyahoga Falls, O. Charlotte Booksing of near Poland, Jeanette Green of Salineville; two brothers, Nelson J. Lower, with the Army in Germany, Donald Lower of Salem.

While doubts and details still must be resolved, Acheson said, he had deep conviction that "all the nations concerned can move forward confidently to make (the European army) a reality."

"The west wants peace above all," declared Acheson. "We do not desire military forces great enough to launch a preventive war."

Crewmen of the tanker Fort Mercer—torn in half by the winter's worst storm two days ago—passed up rescue last night. Twenty-five of their mates were taken off the wreck by coast guardsmen.

Eighteen of them reached Boston this morning aboard the cutter Acushnet, while tugs and other cutters hovered around the bobbing wreckage mapping out salvage plans.

The master of the Acushnet, Lt. Comdr. John M. Joseph of Truro, Mass., said he could have taken all the men off.

"There were several elderly men aboard who were afraid to take a chance and jump (to life rafts bobbing on the rough seas)," he told newsmen.

It was hoped the stern section could be towed to port, but the vessel's owners in New York, the Trinidad Corporation, said a decision might be made today to sink it by gunfire. The Coast Guard had said the wreckage is a menace to navigation.

Two hundred heard Mr. Taft, who was introduced by Rev. Harry Barnett, rector of the Episcopal Church.

Curtain To Rise

A record attendance has been assured tonight for the opening performance of the Leetonia "Follies of 1952," to be presented in the Leetonia High School auditorium at 8 p.m.

A cast of 80 persons, chosen from the various professions and business segments in Leetonia, will perform during the two-hour show. Dress rehearsal was held Monday night.

The "Follies" sprang from an idea of School Supt. D. D. Rummel to pay off the debt incurred when roll-away bleachers were purchased for the High School gymnasium. Wives of the participants have assisted with the costuming.

Tickets are on sale in Salem at Fisher's newsstand and Firestone Electric.

Killer Of Policeman Convicted By Jury

Acheson States NATO Nations Must Sacrifice

Says Actions To Be Taken Will Strain All "To The Utmost"

LISBON, Portugal (AP)—A grave-faced Dean Acheson told the Atlantic allies, opening their ninth council session today: "We must take action that will strain all of us to the utmost."

"It is a task for governments and for peoples," the U.S. Secretary of State said. "We must develop the concrete military strength which alone can insure our people against the destruction and suffering of another war."

Two new members, Greece and Turkey, joined the 12 Western allies in a meeting of the North Atlantic Organization Council—composed of foreign, defense and finance ministers.

Asks Spain Entry

Portuguese Foreign Minister Paulo Cunha, in the role of host, broke into the usual welcoming pleasantries with a plea for the admission of Spain to the Alliance.

He blasted Spain's exclusion as a strategic absurdity, and said defense of the Iberian Peninsula was invisible.

Acheson's words came shortly after reliable reports said North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) economic experts had reported that the 100-division military target for 1954 will fall 12 per cent short of realization.

But he declared the creation of the European Defense Community (EDC), the diplomatic community for a European army uniting Germans and French with the soldiers of four other nations, "has been brought to a point where the approval of this council for its form and authority can be obtained."

Seek 12 German Divisions

The planners look for the Germans to provide 12 divisions in this force. Acheson was fresh from a meeting in London with British and French foreign ministers and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer which apparently paved the way for West German participation in the supranational army.

While doubts and details still must be resolved, Acheson said, he had deep conviction that "all the nations concerned can move forward confidently to make (the European army) a reality."

"The west wants peace above all," declared Acheson. "We do not desire military forces great enough to launch a preventive war."

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday afternoon and evening.

Although the cost of completing the project exceeds the $1,350,000 bond issue levied for its construction by approximately $57,000, the accrued income over expenses of the water department during the past two years obviates the issuance of any more bonds.

Filtration Plant In June

Concerning the actual construction of the reservoir, Mr. Bevier reported that the filtration plant probably will be completed by mid-June.

The State Natural Resources Commission and city officials have completed negotiations permitting Salem to overflow excess water out of Guilford Lake for use in the reservoir, he said.

Mr. Bevier added that new water from the reservoir should be flowing through the city's mains by August.

In connection with the reservoir, Council adopted a resolution on the intent to acquire 56 acres of land owned by Clyde Farmer. City Solicitor Walter J. Hunston reported that attempts to use the reservoir, he said, were being made to overflow excess water out of Guilford Lake for use in the reservoir, he said.

Man In Embezzling Case Is Paroled

A confessed embezzler traded a promise of good conduct for suspension of a $200 fine and 60 days in jail Monday afternoon before Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp at Lisbon.

Harold H. Holmes, 27, Cambridge service station operator indicted secretly by the January Grand Jury, pleaded guilty to embezzling $50 last August from the Dunlop Tire & Rubber Corp. in East Liverpool where he worked.

The plea was a reversal of that made Jan. 21 when he was arraigned on a charge of appropriating $376.76 worth of tires and tubes.

Prosecutor James L. MacDonald and Judge Sharp accepted the plea and Holmes was freed on good conduct. He was arrested Jan. 15 in Cambridge and spent the night in the Lisbon jail before making a $1,000 cash bond.

Girard Mother Charged With Manslaughter

WARREN (AP) — Mrs. Stella Usko, 21, of nearby Girard was charged Tuesday with first-degree manslaughter in the beating to death of her three-year-old son, Michael.

The charge was filed by Police Chief Wallace Flory on the advice of Prosecutor Charles H. Anderson.

The child died Saturday at a Youngstown hospital, where Dr. David Belinky, Mahoning County coroner, ruled it a homicide. He said the whipping "directly or indirectly" caused a cerebral hemorrhage.

Police first quoted the mother as saying she beat the lad because he had hit his year-old sister with a hammer. Later, police continued, she changed her story and said she had whipped him with a belt for "discipline."

She was not taken into custody.

The boy's father, E. T. Usko, was at work at the U. S. Steel Corp. plant in McDonald at the time of the whipping.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Roy Rogers, the movie cowboy, is in a hospital and expected to stay there the rest of the week with a "minor lung congestion." The ailment followed a virus attack.

Gifted Pupils Need More Attention

CINCINNATI (AP) — They're just not paying enough attention to the real bright youngsters in American classrooms, says a New York educator.

Hyman Alpern, principal of Evander Childs High School, New York, declared, "there are in the United States today more than one million persons who would rate as incipient geniuses in the usual meaning of the term."

"There are approximately 2,700 whose intellect is equal to that of the outstanding leaders among the great men of modern times, John Stuart Mill . . . We do not know how vast a number of individuals of extra-ordinary intelligence walk the streets today, their ability unrecognized, their potential usefulness partly or wholly wasted."

He said: "The gifted, the near geniuses and the geniuses have often been unhappy and maladjusted people and the fault for much of this discontent might be charged to their teacher: first, for failing to realize that one of the main functions of intellectual guidance is to discover and develop not only every child of exceptional ability, but also the exceptional abilities of every child. Second, for neglecting to give them special social and personal direction as well as intellectual guidance. Superior pupils need superior teachers."

Bethesda Church Calls Rev. Cochran

MILLPORT — Rev. Fred H. Cochran of New Castle, Pa., was given a unanimous call by the Bethesda Presbyterian Church at a congregational meeting Sunday. He expects to begin his work at the church Easter Sunday.

Kenneth Brown, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Brown, has returned home from the East Liverpool Hospital where he was taken for injuries received in an auto accident. His condition is reported improved.

Mrs. Mary Buisley and Mrs. Thalia Buisley will be hostesses to an all day meeting Thursday. Roll call will be answered by a verse from Psalms. Mrs. May Grubbs will lead devotions. Mrs. Lavina Nelson will speak on the advance on world Christian frontiers.

Liz Hunts Present For Husband-To-Be

LONDON (AP) — Hollywood film star Elizabeth Taylor scurried around Mayfair's shops today looking for a wedding present for a man "who's got everything."

The man is Michael Wilding, 39-year-old British actor, and 19-year-old Liz is scheduled to marry him Thursday at Caxton Hall registry office in Westminster.

The ceremony will be brief. Both Liz and her intended said they hoped there would be little fuss and that there would be only 12 or 15 guests.

It will be the second wedding for each. She is divorced from hotel heir Nicky Hilton, Wilding from British actress Kay Young. This marriage, the couple agreed, is to stick. And Liz said they both want children.

CAN'T KEEP A GOOD MAN OUT — Kenneth L. Downs, right, of Kalamazoo, Mich., was unceremoniously transferred from the Korea battlefield and discharged last November when the Army discovered he was only 16. Undaunted, Downs vowed to re-enlist when he became 17. He is seen being sworn in by Sgt. Charles Gross on the day after his 17th birthday. Sergeant Gross says he will get the combat duty he has requested.

Low-Flying Plane Kills Envoy's Wife

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The summit of the centuries-old Pyramid of the Sun was stained today with the blood of a U. S. diplomat's wife, killed by a low-flying private plane which hit her yesterday as she stood atop the 216-foot monument 28 miles from here.

The dead woman was Mrs. Eleanor Wernimont, of Aurora, Ill., wife of Agricultural Attaché Kenneth Wernimont of the U. S. Embassy here. Her sister and niece, Mrs. William Bailey of Yorkville, Ill., and Geraldine Bailey, 20, to whom she was showing the historic pyramid, were injured by the plane.

The 18-year-old pilot of the plane, Jose Galil Velazquez of Bogota, Colombia, landed his aircraft safely amid the ancient ruins surrounding the pyramid. He and another 18-year-old flying with him, Francisco Atayde Garcia of Mexico City, were held on charges of homicide by negligence. The pilot said he got his private flying license last month and was flying low to take pictures of the pyramid.

East Liverpool Helps Quench Orleans Thirst

EAST LIVERPOOL (AP) — Seven hundred barrels of beer were on their way to New Orleans today in the muddy waters of the Ohio river.

Federal alcohol tax agents dumped the beer, the equivalent of 9,000 cases, because no tax had been paid on it by the bankrupt Webb Corp. Brewery here. The brewery has suspended operations. Feed mills bought its stock of malted barley, cornflakes and soybean flakes.

CAST IRON PRICES DROP NEW YORK (AP) — Prices of some cast iron grades of scrap dropped below ceilings this week for the first time since scrap prices were frozen last February, with declines ranging as much as $5 a ton, The Iron Age reported today.

The 18-year-old pilot of the plane, Jose Galil Velazquez of Bogota, Colombia, landed his aircraft safely amid the ancient ruins surrounding the pyramid.

He and another 18-year-old flying with him, Francisco Atayde Garcia of Mexico City, were held on charges of homicide by negligence. The pilot said he got his private flying license last month and was flying low to take pictures of the pyramid.

Editorial Courage

TROUBLEMAKERS, slot machine operators, malefactors of every kind and character have a way of misunderstanding their fate. Always they resent the white light of exposure by a newspaper. They imagine that their clash with the law and their abuse of a community's decency would be eased if the newspaper editor just glossed over the facts.

They ignore the editor's place as an agent of the people, his responsibility to his readers and to law enforcement in all respects. Now and then they attempt physical vengeance. In instances more rare, they kill an editor, as a dope-fiend hireling of racketeers killed John Mellett in Canton in 1926.

Nothing so violent happened Monday night to John G. Green, editor of the Portsmouth (O.) Times, but a physical attack made upon him by a convicted slot machine operator, Jerome A. Distel, points up the problem.

Editor Green kept his community informed about the arraignment of Distel's father, Louis M. Distel, in federal court at Cincinnati on charges brought by the FBI that the latter had illegally transported slot machines across the Ohio River. The younger Distel took issue with the news stories and adopted a persecution complex.

Nothing that Jerome Distel or his ilk in other cities can do or say will keep an honorable editor from doing his duty in a community. The law allows Editor Green to bring charges of assault and battery against Distel. Community responsibility allows him, in fact requires him, to keep on telling the story of lawlessness as the fact and the courts reveal it.

Editor Green can trust the people of his town to uphold his courage.

Plato Plus

PLATO may have had the right idea how to run a republic, or he may have had just another theory that wouldn't work. But there can be no disagreement about his basic idea.

Government never should be given into the hands of eager beavers who do not know what they're doing. Public decisions deserve the benefit of all the experience which can be brought to bear on them.

Plato judged this to be so important that his ideal republic would have been run by men systematically trained for the job—and trained by more than hit-and-miss experience. It would not be presumed, in other words, that old men were wiser than young men unless they had proved themselves wiser in official competition and as the result of official training.

In practice, there has been no systematic training for public jobs. There has been only hit-and-miss experience, such as that gained by Rep. Robert L. Doughton, who has just announced he will retire from Congress after this year.

Doughton will be 89 years old next November. He has been in Congress since 1911 and has been chairman of the ways and means committee since 1933, except for the two years of the Republican-controlled 80th Congress.

During this time Rep. Doughton has learned everything there is to know about providing income for a free-spending federal government. But even Plato would have to concede there finally comes a time when a man may know too much and should yield to ignorance.

What Might Have Been

NOTHING causes more remorse right now than to wonder what might have been true in 1952 if Hitler and Stalin had been permitted to fight things out on their own terms between 1942 and 1945.

The expediency which caused the United States and the hard-pressed British to buy the Soviet Union's loyalty with war air was one of the costliest decisions of the 20th century.

It is unlikely that the Germans could have defeated the Russians—not with the threat of Allied invasion at their backs.

It is unlikely the Russians could have forced back the Germans to the extent of invading Germany without Allied help.

The contest would have ended, in all probability, as a draw between exhausted nations—and if that had happened the United States would never have made the mistake of believing the Communist dictatorship was capable of honorable conduct in international relations.

Certainly it would now be in a better position to expect Germans to take up arms again to defend themselves and other Europeans against the same nation they tried to bowl over in World War II.

The new price of liquor makes it harder to meet a friend going through the rye.

It's through hard work that people get on to the point where they're well off.

Refugee Schools

By PETER EDSON

Universities In Washington Considered

WASHINGTON PLAN is now being considered in Washington for a chain of universities for refugees in which those who fled from behind the Iron Curtain could complete their education for democracy.

The plan is now before the White House, the Department of State and the Mutual Security Agency. There is a fair chance that it may be approved.

It would require no new legislation by Congress.

Money to finance the undertaking could come from the $100 million appropriation to aid refugees from Communist countries. This is Wisconsin Rep. Charles J. Kersten's amendment to the Mutual Security Act passed last fall.

Author of the new plan is Harry M. Rosenfield, one of the three members of the Displaced Persons Commission. Mr. Rosenfield got his idea while he was in Europe last year, in connection with winding up the DPC program.

DPC must grant its last visa before June 30. It is scheduled to go out of business in September.

Working on its liquidation, Rosenfield became interested in the plight of the new refugees, as distinguished from the older ones from World War II. The new refugees are the people from Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, eastern Austria and Germany.

Wanting to escape from Communist domination, they slip through the Iron Curtain at night to seek freedom and safety in western Europe.

It is now estimated that only 20 per cent of those who try to escape from communism succeed in slipping across the closely-guarded border. The number who succeed average from 1500 to 2000 a month. These are from the satellite countries alone.

From eastern Germany and Austria the number is put at 20,000 a month.

THEY PRESENT a terrific problem, to themselves and to the countries in which they seek haven. There are no organized reception centers to which they can be sent. Instead of being welcomed, they are usually locked up by the border police, on the chance that they might ever be spies.

The fugitives are then given a thorough questioning by intelligence services of the Allied powers. Every scrap of information about themselves and about specific conditions behind the Iron Curtain is sought.

Better Than Politics

By TRUMAN TWILL

THIS is intended for a lady who glowers whenever a gent of her acquaintance gets a faraway look in his eye and begins to talk about farming, a subject on which he can speak freely from the depths of his bottomless ignorance.

When this gent happens to fall into the highly-articulate company of two other gents who know equally little about agriculture but speak even more freely because they are what is known among city farmers as "big operators," the lady would look at all of them in their tracks, if dirty looks could kill.

Any one as offended as she is by a harmless conversation which strikes her as wholly and grotesquely unnatural deserves an explanation.

It is because, dear lady, these imposters who rub you the wrong way by talking like Josh Wise about things of which they really know nothing are sick and tired of talking about politics, a subject about which they really do know nothing.

They have passed the age when it is endlessly amusing to talk about women, and besides all of them are married and have sons and daughters thinking about getting married. Time changes all things, especially this.

They do not mind talking about business, but they realize business is not a topic of general interest. It come under the heading of "shop talk," which means their wives will give them hard looks if they don't change the subject.

They can talk about baseball in season, also football in season and can even whip up a discussion of basketball, track, or some of the minor sports. But there is a limit to what can be said with any show of reason on these subjects.

That is how they learned in the first place that agriculture is a prime topic of conversation. Being one of the most widespread of all human activities, there is no limit to what can be found out about it through reading and listening. At least one of them read himself into an address in RDF.

Because there are numerous opinions about almost every detail of agriculture, an argument can be worked up at the drop of a rural expression—and never

If they appear to be genuine refugees, they are turned loose. They immediately become problem children. They have no place to go. (There is not enough housing for the resident population.)

There is no jobs for them. Unemployment is still a serious problem in all of overpopulated western Europe.

So they become relief cases. Some of them, disillusioned, may slip back across the line again, to become prize exhibits for Communist propagandists. They are used to show how bad conditions are in western Europe.

Most of the refugees, Commissioner Rosenfield found, were young people. One of these he interviewed himself was only four weeks out of the uranium mines of Czechoslovakia. Another was a young dental student from Poland.

STRANGELY enough, the Pole had no desire to come to the United States. He wanted to complete his dental training, then go back home to work in the underground.

At Strasbourg, in eastern France, Commissioner Rosenfield saw the new school established by the American National Committee for Free Europe. It opened with 86 students last Nov. 1.

In Berlin there was the Free University. It has a student body of 10,000 of whom 40 per cent come from east Germany. The Ford Foundation last year gave this institution a million dollar grant.

From all these scattered details, Commissioner Rosenfield put together his idea for a chain of free world universities around the Iron Curtain, specifically designed to aid escapees.

As now envisaged, his plan would have four principal objectives.

First, it would serve as a reception center for the escapees.

Second, it would provide a place where the refugees could complete their education in their chosen fields—engineering, law, medicine, journalism or whatever they wished.

The third program would be educating the escapees in the cultural backgrounds of their own countries, the history, democratic traditions and aspirations of their native lands. All this has been blotted out under the Communist system of education.

Fourth would come an emigration program to find new homes and work for the graduates that could not return to their former homes.

settled because the experts are unable to agree on these matters

Furthermore, because farming is involved with such related matters as accounting, public policy, the satisfaction of eating, the New Deal, the Old Deal, philosophy, sociology, mechanization and peace of mind, all these can be brought into the discussion. Do you begin to understand, lady?

The trouble with you is that you do not comprehend why men need something they can talk about on the same level of compatibility as women occupy when they talk about clothing, hair dressers, infant care and the foibles of their friends.

The men need something they can yak on and on about without coming to any end and without leading to a decision. Hence, it's better than politics.

Russia's Status In The Korean War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

THE effrontery of the Communists in challenging the right of the United Nations command to veto Soviet Russia as one of the six neutral nations whose representatives are to police a Korean armistice is matched only by the blundering failure of the United Nations heretofore to declare Communist Russia an "aggressor" and hence a belligerent in the Korean war.

The United Nations, after much arguing by the American government, several months ago heretofore to declare Communist China an "aggressor," but although the whole world knows that Communist Russia has been assisting the North Koreans and the Chinese "volunteers" militarily—no such formal denunciation of the Moscow regime has been forthcoming.

It is only natural, therefore, in the absence of any declaration to the contrary, that the Communist negotiators in Korea should offer the name of Soviet Russia as a "neutral." They are under the thumb of the Moscow government and must do its bidding. The absence of a Russian representative would indeed be a handicap because all decisions on the Communist side must be included in the inspection teams along with Czechoslovakia and Poland, then the way out is to include Soviet Russia, on the one hand, and the United States, on the other, and dispense with characterization as to which representatives are "neutral" and which are "belligerent."

As a matter of fact, neither the Polish nor Czechoslovakian representatives would be "neutral."

They are under the thumb of the Moscow government and must do its bidding. The absence of a Russian representative would indeed be a handicap because all decisions on the Communist side have to be made at Moscow, anyhow.

So the solution appears to be to increase the number of countries from six to eight and include representatives of both Soviet Russia and the United States on the inspection teams which will watch the way the terms of the armistice are carried out once it is signed.

THERE WOULD have been complications, anyway, in imposing on the so-called "neutral" representatives friendly to the U.N. the burden of settling the many tangles that may well arise, and it will expedite matters to have representatives of both the United States and Soviet Russia on the inspection teams.

Russia's status in the Korean war has been quietly ignored by the leaders of the U.N. This is one of the things that has alienated a substantial part of American opinion. Many people in America cannot understand how Soviet Russia, which professes to believe in the peaceful aims of the U.N. and the objectives named in its charter, can have carried on behind the North Korean lines a major operation designed to thwart the United Nations troops in their effort to carry out a resolution of the U.N. which calls for pacification of the entire Korean peninsula and not just the southern section.

As a matter of fact, neither the Polish nor Czechoslovakian representatives would be "neutral."

They are under the thumb of the Moscow government and must do its bidding. The absence of a Russian representative would indeed be a handicap because all decisions on the Communist side have to be made at Moscow, anyhow.

Well-Done Pork, Trichinosis Guard

A TINY animal parasite which is called trichinella spiralis is the cause of the serious and common disease known as trichinosis. Infection comes most often from eating improperly cooked pork or pork products.

Cooking destroys these tiny animal parasites but meat which has not been entirely heated through and which was originally infected can and frequently does contain trichinella in the "rare" portion of the meat.

It has also been called to my attention by a reader that freezing at 5 degrees Fahrenheit for 20 days will also kill these parasites.

However, for ordinary purposes, cooking thoroughly is the safest thing to rely on.

A typical outbreak reported from Iowa. Twenty-five members of a Ladies Aid Group gathered for their regular bi-monthly meeting.

Sandwiches, pickles, and coffee were served. The filling for the sandwiches was made from mixed ham, hard-boiled eggs and mayonnaise.

The meeting took place on December 15. Just before the Christmas holidays things began to happen. Several of the ladies complained of cramps in the abdomen, diarrhea, nausea, and chills and fever.

Later pains in the muscles set in with stiffness of the neck, puffiness under the eyes, and swelling of the glands of the neck and under the chin.

The reason for the muscular symptoms is that these tiny animal parasites actually go into the muscles and after irritating the muscles for a time become quiet there.

Social Affairs

Mrs. Maurice Sadler Elected
1952-53 Book Club President

IN OCTOBER Mrs. Maurice Sadler will assume the duties of president of the Book Club succeeding Mrs. James Cross. The 1952-53 officers were named at the meeting Monday afternoon in the library assembly room.

Mrs. Warren Brown and Mrs. J. C. Pottorf were elected first and second vice presidents respectively; Mrs. R. B. Calkins, secretary; Mrs. W. A. Helm, treasurer and Mrs. Charles Werne, assistant treasurer. Mrs. Cross will be the non-official member.

India Theme of Meeting

The theme of the meeting may be summed up in the words of Mohandas K. Gandhi, famous Indian leader, who said that "Causes of hatred everywhere obtrude themselves on one's gaze . . . the only way of dealing with the situation was to neutralize hatred by love."

Three well-prepared papers were given by Miss Caroline Hole, Miss Erma Hoopes, and Mrs. James Luke. Miss Hole dealt with the poverty of the great nation in her topic "New India-An Awakening Giant." She told of the backward way of farming. They are seeking a way of life of their own, she said and while accepting ways of the western world do not want western ways in "large doses."

India's culture, which began over two thousand years ago, was discussed by Miss Hoopes. A reservoir of culture of all Asia was the way she described the situation. Because of combined poverty and fatalism a spiritual experience is a necessity she concluded.

Mrs. Luke told of Madame Pandit, sister of Prime Minister Nehru. She is believed to have a better grasp of international relations than her brother. She seeks closer American-Indian cooperation and understanding.

Mrs. A. F. Huber entertained with two solos, "Luthuanian Song," and "Christopher Robin is Saying His Prayers." Mrs. John Townsend was accompanist. Mrs. Cross reported on the recent Mississippi Valley Conference of the Federation of Women's clubs in Cleveland. Mrs. W. D. King also attended. A guest tea will be held March 3.

Washington Theme Of Grange Program

An entertaining George Washington program is planned by Clark S. Marshall, lecturer of Midway Grange, for the meeting at 8 p.m. Saturday in the hall.

VALLEY FORGE: Inspiration for Today

Words cannot describe the despair of General Washington as he watched dread disease infiltrate his camp. The first sick call at Valley Forge revealed 3000 men unfit for duty. A month later typhus and smallpox had swelled the list to 4100 — more than a third of the entire Army.

Washington had few doctors, fewer drugs. The desperately ill were hauled in open wagons over bumpy roads to hospitals more than 50 miles away. But the hospitals lacked nurses; the doctors, knowledge. No one suspected germs were parasites that live on filth. Had stricter attention been paid to sanitation, hundreds of lives might have been saved.

Popular belief has it that as disease swirled through the ranks of the Continental Army, Washington walked into the forest, knelt upon the snow and prayed for divine help. Though the story is suspect, it is certain relief did arrive — in the form of spring and Baron Frederick von Steuben.

Quakers Meet Ursuline Five Thursday Evening At South

Thursday evening at Youngstown South Fieldhouse the Salem Quakers will play their last regular season game when they tangle with the Irish of Youngstown Ursuline.

Coached by Tom Carey, the Irishmen hold an 8-9 record for the season; 1-11, but under the undefeated squad which faced the locals in the last game of the 1950-51 season.

Last year the Irish had a 15-0 mark when they invaded the Quaker City but when they left their record read 15-1 as they took their only loss. From that team Coach Carey has but two men back in Jim Savko and John Stedman, seniors and leaders of the present squad.

Stedman plays the center position, being 6 foot 3 inches. He is the most constant rebounder of the Ursuline team.

Savko plays a forward spot standing 5 foot 11 inches. He also is a good rebounder and a heavy scorer as is his forward partner, Pat Moore. Moore, a sophomore who has shown great improvement, stands 6 foot 1 inch.

At the guard positions are two brothers, Cecil and Dave Kimmel. Cecil is a senior and Dave is a sophomore. Both cagers are small, the latter a 5 foot 6 inch tit.

Tribe's Bob Feller To Open 13th Spring Training Session

BY WILLIAM LEVY

CLEVELAND (INS)—Bob Feller, the dean of American League pitchers, who is about to embark for his 13th spring training session, says that "getting in shape is not any easier and that's for sure."

Rapid Robert, who last year again confounded those who perennially say that he is "washed up," by turning in the best win-loss record of his career, will depart for the Tribe's Tuscon, Ariz., camp Feb. 24.

He currently is making a television movie entitled "Backstage Baseball" at a downtown Cleveland studio and said that the film has "a little bit of everything in it."

"I'm in good shape," said Bob, "and all I have to do is build up my stamina and get in the groove."

FELLER HAS always done a little bit more when it came to spring training than the average athlete. While the other Tribesmen adhere to the training rules laid down by the manager, Feller does additional exercises to build himself up.

Of course, the big question is whether the number one hurler in the American League can turn in a repeat performance or come near his 1951 record of 22 wins and eight setbacks.

The limber-armed Iowa farmboy's lifetime percentage of .537 is exceeded by only three men—Lefty Grove, Christy Mathewson and Mordca Brown, but the "strikeout king" still has plenty of whip left in his celebrated right arm.

FELLER SAID that he believes that the 1952 pennant race will be a scramble between the Indians and the New York Yankees. He is not counting the Boston Red Sox in on the title picture and added that if the Red Sox do come through without Ted Williams "Lou Boudreau will be a great hero."

The Tribe's ace right-hander asserted that he did not think that the Indians' big-four would win as many games as they did last season. Mike Garcia, Early Wynn and Feller collared at least 20 victories apiece and Bob Lemon accounted for 17.

However, Feller said that the pitchers hurled nearer their form than the batters approached their expectations.

"I'm just hoping that the law of averages catches up with our hitters," said Feller, who pointed out that the Indians were first in pitching and first in fielding but second in the standings behind the Yankees.

"I think the Tigers will have a much improved ball club this year," he said, "but of course it is hard to tell what will happen by the time the season is over."

"That's what makes the game so interesting—you never know what will happen from one season to the next," said the man who last year annexed third no-hitter of a spectacular career.

His goal this season is 20 victories and a pennant for the Indians—and that would mean another chance for that elusive world series victory.

Larry Doby May Be Absent Other Cleveland Sluggers Set To Go

THE IRISH have tallied victories over Canton Central, New Castle Union, Campbell Memorial, Youngstown Chaney and Warren St. Mary's.

Teams which have beaten the Ursuline quintet are Canton South, Cleveland Central, Erie Catholic Prep, Youngstown Rayen, Akron St. Mary's, Youngstown North, Youngstown East, North Lima and Youngstown South.

The Salem-Ursuline game will be the third of a tripleheader during the evening with Wilson and Austintown Fitch going in the first game and South and Memorial mixing in the second.

Arriving yesterday were Luke Easter, Ray Boone, Jim Lemon and Bud Huston, the last a promising outfielder from the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., farm club. The others—Al Rosen, Harry Simpson, Jim Hegan, Dick Wakefield and, maybe, Doby—were due today.

GREENBERG SAID yesterday he still hadn't heard from Doby, who must sign his contract before he gets into uniform. Doby has been arguing for more money.

Lou Brissie and Steve Gromek, Cleveland's No. 1 and No. 2 reserve pitchers, respectively, also were on hand.

Brissie was feeling particularly proud of losing 28 pounds after he weighed in at "only" 197 pounds. It was intentional, too.

"I figured if I took off some weight," he said, "I wouldn't put as great a strain on my bum leg. That way, I could do more running and work myself into better shape."

Brissie nearly lost his shrapnel-shattered left leg in Italy during the last war. He disclosed for the first time that he had to have another operation on the leg in December. A bone chip was removed.

"I didn't tell the ball club," said Lou, "because I didn't want people to think I was having trouble with my leg. It was a minor operation and I didn't want a lot of publicity. My leg has given me too much publicity already."

AS A RELIEVER, Brissie had a 2.22 earned run average last year, one of the lowest among relief pitchers in the league.

The Indians' latest signed contract was received from another pitcher, Lloyd Dickey, a rookie southpaw from the San Francisco Soos.

In Cooperstown, N. Y., directors of the Hall of Fame announced that the annual big league exhibition game this year will be between the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago Cubs, July 21. Both have been there once before.

Cleveland defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, in 1941. The Cubs beat the Boston Red Sox, 10-9, the year before.

Salem Boosters Meet Tonight In Building

The Salem Boosters are reminded of the important meeting of the club tonight at 7:30 in the Memorial Building. President Jim Jackson hopes many Boosters will turn out for the meeting concerned with the annual basketball banquet.

Snead, Mackinnon Lead Tournament

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—With the possible exception of Larry Doby, who may be playink hooky, all of the Cleveland Indians' hitting pupils were expected to answer up at the first roll call to Corbett Field to work out.

Arriving yesterday were Luke Easter, Ray Boone, Jim Lemon and Bud Huston, the last a promising outfielder from the Wilkes-Barre, Pa., farm club.

The others—Al Rosen, Harry Simpson, Jim Hegan, Dick Wakefield and, maybe, Doby—were due today.

Still embarrassed by winter-long explanations of how the Brooks blew a 13 1/2 game lead to the New York Giants, Dressen is determined to have a winner.

"I'd like to have Pee Wee Reese lead off," he said, "and Bill Cox hit second. If they can come up with the same kind of years as in '51 that ought to do the trick."

"DUKE SNIDER would hit third, as usual, and Jackie Robinson fourth with Roy Campanella fifth. Then Andy Pafko, Gil Hodges and probably Carl Furillo.

"Pee Wee ought to be a good leadoff man. He can bunt and Cox can hit behind the runner."

What would Dressen do differently if he had last season to play over again?

"I can think of one change," he said. "The last time we played Philadelphia in Brooklyn, I pitched Clem Labine in the first game and they knocked him out. Next day it was Don Newcombe's turn and then Preacher Roe's."

"I had Labine working in the bullpen in Roe's game. So when we went to Boston I couldn't pitch him. I didn't get to use him again until the playoffs. Maybe that was a mistake."

Brissie, formerly an All-American halfback at the University of Georgia, has resigned effective March 1 to enter the furniture business here.

The Youngstown coach resigned last spring but had reconsidered at the insistence of the Alumni Association.

"I didn't tell the ball club," said Lou, "because I didn't want people to think I was having trouble with my leg. It was a minor operation and I didn't want a lot of publicity. My leg has given me too much publicity already."

AS A RELIEVER, Brissie had a 2.22 earned run average last year, one of the lowest among relief pitchers in the league.

The Indians' latest signed contract was received from another pitcher, Lloyd Dickey, a rookie southpaw from the San Francisco Soos.

In Cooperstown, N. Y., directors of the Hall of Fame announced that the annual big league exhibition game this year will be between the Cleveland Indians and the Chicago Cubs, July 21. Both have been there once before.

Cleveland defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 2-1, in 1941. The Cubs beat the Boston Red Sox, 10-9, the year before.

NEW YORK (INS) — Stocks steadied around noon today after an opening extension of yesterday's decline.

U.S. Steel and Bethlehem ruled unchanged at noon. Both General Motors and Chrysler were around previous closings.

It also instructed the solicitor to draw up the necessary resolution regarding the lease of a room in the City Hall for a nominal sum to the State Highway Patrol. Patrolmen had requested that a room be provided them for use in conducting drivers' examinations and issuing tests.

Members passed a motion by Michael Schuller, chairman of the sewer committee, that the city engineer be instructed to submit a report to Council regarding the condition of Salem's sewage system, accompanied by his recommendations on the steps needed to adequately dispose of the sewage load.

DOUSE STREET LIGHTS

Upon a motion by Councilman Carl Abe, Council rescinded its order of a previous meeting authorizing the placing of two additional street lights on Penn St. between State and Pershing Streets. Mr. Abe said that he had investigated the area and considered it no more dimly lighted than certain other areas in town.

Following this action, a motion by Councilman Robert Carpenter that one additional light be placed on that street was killed when no one arose to second it.

Council, however, approved a motion by Lighting Committee Chairman H. C. Kniseley that two street lights be installed on Granite St. between Arch and Liberty.

The solons heard a report by Safety Committee Chairman George H. Bowman Jr. who stated that N. Ellsworth Ave. residents had requested that the school patrolman stationed at 10th St. be moved to 12th St.

Mr. Bowman stated that his committee had met several times with N. Ellsworth Ave. residents in regard to traffic and safety problems and that additional meetings are planned, following which he would submit his recommendations to Council.

Iran Okays Partial Plan Of Bankers

Election

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — Two high officials of the international bank left for Washington today following partial agreement with Iran's government on their plan to get the Middle Eastern country's big oil resources flowing again.

They are Robert L. Garner, vice president of the bank, and Hector Prudhomme, its loan consultant, who said they will try to arrange resumption of large scale Iranian oil exports.

The main part of their plan was a proposal for the bank to manage the industry temporarily. This would permit hard-up Iran to earn much needed oil revenues and let the oil flow to Western users while a final settlement is being reached of the dispute with Britain over nationalization of the British-owned oil facilities in Iran.

It was not announced just how much of this plan was accepted by Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's government.

On the Democratic side, W. Averell Harriman was mentioned as a possibility on the party's ticket. Harriman was being considered for either the vice presidency or a Senate seat.

an independent had the support of an anti-Long coalition formed by seven candidates who lost out in an earlier primary.

In the big race for the Republican presidential nomination, there were these developments:

1. Senator Taft of Ohio said he welcomes Gov. Earl Warren of California into the April 1 Wisconsin primary. He added, "My only regret is that General Eisenhower hasn't decided to come into the race."

2. Stassen said in Madison he believed the Wisconsin primary still was a contest between himself and Taft despite Warren's entry.

3. Senator Morse (R-Ore.), an Eisenhower supporter, said he would like to see the general enter.

4. Morse did not rule out the possibility he might run as a "favorite son" in his home state. He said Taft should run in the Oregon primary. Taft has said he won't enter the Oregon primary because he hasn't time to campaign there.

5. Petitions were filed putting MacArthur's name in the Oregon primary. Meanwhile, MacArthur asked that his name be withdrawn from the Minnesota primary March 18 and the Pennsylvania primary April 22.

On the Democratic side, W. Averell Harriman was mentioned as a possibility on the party's ticket. Harriman was being considered for either the vice presidency or a Senate seat.

In Congress, a Senate Elections Subcommittee considered proposed election laws to end excessive spending and name-calling in election campaigns.
